

Allowing cellphone use aboard aircraft in flight is the dumbest idea yet. The noise pollution would be awful, and we could not get away from it -- nowhere to run, nowhere to hide. Thus, even if it were technically possible without causing interference with the aircraft's instruments, it should never be allowed. Please do not foist such an insult on the flying public in the name of access.

Marlene Ann Bekey
mbekey@cox.net